We've chatted up the Liverpool birds...

... to find out what's going on now in Liverpool, the pop city that set the pace for the 'swinging Britain' of the 60s. Gordon Burn took The Liver Birds Beryl and Sandra - back on your BBC1 screens on Friday - to Merseyside to meet real live Liverpool birds. You can read about what they got up to in a RADIO TIMES colour feature.

Does your wife/husband/ boss understand you?

When adolescents get into trouble, when workers go on strike, when marriages shatter . . . it's 'the communication gap' that is at fault. RADIO TIMES investigates the invisible barrier that so few people seem able to bridge at the start of a new BBC2 series (Tuesdays), The Space Between Words.

Radio Times goes to jail...

... to Brixton Prison, London, in fact, to talk to men on remand, awaiting trial. Many of them will be fined or even found not guilty. Yet they will have spent days, weeks, even months in jail. Our feature previews a Man Alive investigation (Wednesday BBC2) into a disturbing situation.

Coming shortly, an announcement about . . .

Our Dalek competition!

Every youngster in the country, it seems, wants to own his own Dalek. The response to our win-a-Dalek competition has been amazing. Here Terry Nation, the man who invented the Daleks, begins the vast job of judging the entries - helped by two of the Daleks we'll be giving away as prizes.

The 'Dr Who' competition

Thank you for making up the Dr Who competition. It has given my brother and me great entertainment for the holiday.

Someone will be very pleased with the first prize.

I hope you will invent some other thing or creature to make Dr Who one of the most popular TV programmes again.

*Brian Milne (aged 11)
Huntly, Aberdeenshire*

RUSSELL TWISK, Planning Editor, RADIO TIMES, replies:

*Entries for our Win-A-Dalek competition have now closed. Many thousands of children and adults have entered, and it will take several weeks to sort out the winners. The result will be published in the 24 February issue of RADIO TIMES.*

A new life...for the love of her husband

'I would live in Cambodia with John if it worked out that way,' says American actress Shirley Knight Hopkins. Shirley turned her back on Hollywood and came to live in England when she married British writer John Hopkins. She talks to Robert Ottaway in a colour feature. On BBC2 she stars in two plays by her husband, That Quiet Earth (Monday) and Walk into the Dark (Tuesday).

Gregory Peck exclusive: 'I'm through with acting'

Gregory Peck now wants to produce films instead of acting in them. In an exclusive interview, he tells RADIO TIMES why and describes the kind of films he wants to produce. He talks frankly and fully in a three-page colour feature to provide a fascinating insight into the mind of one of Hollywood's most durable stars.

BBC1 begins a season of three Gregory Peck films with Twelve O'Clock High on Sunday.

Margaret Thatcher puts her case

Education Minister Mrs Margaret Thatcher talks to RADIO TIMES about some of the issues - notably school milk and school dinners - that have made her one of the Government's most controversial figures. On Tuesday It's Your Line . . . to Mrs Thatcher on Radio 4.

Have you won a Dalek? Find out next week

The moment all Dalek fans have been waiting for - next week we announce the winners in our great win-a-Dalek competition. We'll also be giving details of an exhibition of some of the best entries, which will be staged over the Easter holiday.

The latest Dr Who story, The Sea Devils, begins on Saturday (BBC1).
